HHH IN FOREFRONT AS LBJ WILL NOT RUN

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Fellow asks us if we are behaving ourselves and we tell him, heck, we are getting so old that we can't do anything else but.

Flowers which have bloomed thus far at our place: Crocus, Jonquils, Bluebell, Japonica, Winter Blooming Pansies. The Forsythia may bloom yet. It's brand new.

Looking out the window yesterday morning and of all the commotion we ever saw. Leaves were flying in all directions. Got the field glasses and looked and there was a pair of Brown Thrashers. They are well named because they were doing some thrashing about. They are big, long legged and long billed. They worked their way across the woods looking for beetles, bugs and what have you.

A Carolina Wren perched on the Post Oak. He went round a couple of times, hopped down on the ground, twittered about for a few minutes then flew over to our favorite stump.

Watching various and sundry birds at the feeder and we noticed that they do the Juicy Fruit hop every now and then. We figured they thought they were going through the motions of scratching up food.

Wild Cherry Trees have leaves on them and the Buckeye Tree has leaves also.

As one looks through the woods, the openness is beginning to go away. Young leaves, bursting buds, and general activity among plant life in general is beginning to close in the chinks. Before long the bare and stark limbs will be covered and vision will be blocked completely.

Dropped out at Edgar's place Saturday and looked over his nursery and florist business. Edgar has most anything a fellow might want who plans on planting something. We got a Magnolia Tree and a Red Dogwood, also a little packet of giant size Sunflower seed. We always did want a row of Sunflowers, so we just got this packet of seed and look forward to seeing some giant Sunflower heads this summer.

The Murray Home and Auto Store was broken into sometime between Friday at six p.m. and Saturday at eight a.m., according to a report filed by Charles Chittum to the Murray Police Department Saturday morning.

Patrolmen Joe Pat Witherspoon and J. D. Grogan investigated and said a small hole was cut in the roof over a high shelf on the east side of the building.

Store personnel said the stock will have to be checked with the invoices to determine what items were taken.

Police said Brent Outland of Outland's Bakery said he heard someone hammering about three a.m. Saturday, went out the back door and yelled. Outland said the hammering stopped and he thought the person or persons had left.

Johnson Not Candidate; Asks Pause In Bombing of Vietnam

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's "irrevocable" decision not to run for re-election today catapulted his second-in-command Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey into the forefront of White House contenders.

The Chief Executive's bombshell announcement Sunday, coupled with his order to halt immediately all but limited bombing of North Vietnam, lent an unprecedented authority to what he termed "this new step toward peace."

Turning aside from personal ambition, the 59-year-old Johnson told an impromptu news conference after his 41-minute radio and television address: "I would hope that by what I did tonight, we can concentrate more of our energies on trying to bring about peace in the world and that we would have a better chance to do it."

The initial reaction to his decision not to run, both at home and abroad, was stunned disbelief. Several prominent Democrats spoke of organizing a draft.

There is no one else who can handle the job of being president declared Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., a friend for more than 40 years.

Fulbright Applauds Action

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., an outspoken critic of the President's Vietnam policies, termed Johnson's "a great patriot." He said he thought the bombing halt and the President's decision not to run were "hopeful gestures" toward peace. Other Vietnam "doves" expressed similar sentiments.

But politics takes no breathers, and on the heels of their expressions of astonishment and tribute, the various presidential contenders immediately turned to assessments of their own chances now that Johnson had acted to remove himself from contention.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the odds-on favorite in the Republican presidential race, predicted that "someone espousing the Johnson philosophy" would seek the Democratic nomination in the President's place.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Minn., while praising Johnson as a man "who has given so many years of public service to his country," thought that the President's decision had enhanced his own chances for the White House.

The Chief Executive's eyes were red-rimmed and his voice appeared to break as he told the nation and the world of his decision to step down at the end of his current term.

Recalled Kennedy Pledge

He recalled the day 52 months ago when he assumed the presidency upon the assassination of John F. Kennedy, and he quoted from the late President's inaugural address that "This generation of Americans is willing to pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe, to assure the survival and the success of liberty."

"We have kept that compact," Johnson said, tears welling in his eyes. "I shall continue to keep it, whatever the trials and tests ahead. The strength of this country will lie...in the unity of our people."

The President's decision was a well kept secret from all but his most intimate associates.

Kennedy Ties Strained

Ever since that day in 1960 when John F. Kennedy decided to ask Johnson to be his running mate over the objections of his brother, Robert, relations between the two strong-willed men have been civil at best.

Johnson's family was with him in the oval room office as he delivered his address.

"I have concluded that I should not permit the presidency to become involved in the partisan divisions that are developing in this political year," Johnson said slowly and emphatically. He wiped at his eyes and his forehead.

"With America's sons in the field far away, with America's future under challenge here at home, under our hopes and the world's hopes—for peace in the balance every day, I do not believe that I should devote an hour of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office."

Definite Statement

"Accordingly, I shall not seek and will not accept the nomination of my party for another term as your President," he said.

Political Shock Wave Made By Johnson Hits Kentucky

By GLEN CARPENTER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The political shock wave made by President Johnson's decision not to seek re-election rolled into Kentucky Sunday night and struck state Democratic leaders hard, particularly former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt.

Breathitt, one of Johnson's staunchest supporters in Kentucky, expressed not only surprise but disappointment at the President's decision, which came at the end of a nationally televised and broadcast speech to the nation.

"I am disappointed that the country will not have his leadership," Breathitt said from his home in Hopkinsville. "What we saw tonight was the act of a great man."

It shows that he is a man who has the interest of peace in the world and the interests of his country first and foremost," Breathitt said. He said Johnson's act justified the faith he had always had in him.

Breathitt recently returned from a political fence-mending campaign in California to assure a pro-Johnson delegation to the Democratic National Convention this summer in Chicago.

State Democratic party Chairman Lawrence Wetherby, who is rumored to be set to resign, had no comment to make Sunday night. The former governor, now a state senator from Frankfort, was expected to have a statement today.

The state Democratic party's titular head, Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, reached in Owensboro, said, "President Johnson has put Hanoi and the world on notice that political decisions will not conflict with any decision made to end the war in Vietnam."

Ford's statement was echoed by recently announced Democratic senatorial candidate Julian Carroll of West Paducah, speaker of the House during the recently ended 1968 legislative session.

Katherine Peden, another senatorial hopeful for the Democratic nod, said she felt Johnson would be recorded as a "modern day peace-maker."

Johnson last fall named Miss Peden, a former state-commerce commissioner, as the only woman member on his Commission on Civil Disorders, which proved last summer's riots in some of the nation's cities.

Former Ockerman, also field senatorial candidacy papers, said he thought the President's speech "very convincing and very sincere."

Ockerman, of Lexington, a former state party chairman, said he believed Johnson's decision would make an already interesting campaign even more so by opening the race up.

And in Washington Sunday, an

And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain. — I Corinthians 15:14.
The Resurrection of Christ is a confirmation of God's approval of the ministry of His Son. If He were still in the tomb, then we might just as well bury our faith.

TIME OUT

GALE GARRISON

A total of 809 people in Murray and Calloway signed their names to a list that asked Stan Key to attend Murray State University. I was one of them.

I would have liked for Stan to play at Murray, for a couple of reasons. I would be able to see him play much more than I will with him at U.K., and I know that he would have been a big help to Coach Cal Luther and the Racers.

But, since he didn't attend Murray I am glad that he is going to Kentucky. I believe that he will see a lot of action for the Wildcats during the next four years.

Stan said one of the reasons for going to U.K. was that it had always been his ambition to play at Kentucky.

I was able to sit down with Stan and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Key, after he signed with assistant coach Joe Hall at his home in Hazel last Wednesday.

The three of them agreed that they had never met a finer group of people than the coaches that called on them from the many different schools, wanting Stan to sign with them.

Stan said "The hardest part of signing was telling people like John Lotz and Roy Skinner that he wasn't going to their college."

Lotz is the assistant coach of North Carolina, and Roy Skinner is head coach of Vanderbilt University.

These three schools were all that remained out of the 130 that contacted him before Stan made a decision to play for Kentucky.

One of the main reasons Stan gave for not signing with North Carolina was because it was so far from home, and Stan had the tough job of telling Lotz his decision while he was in his home last week after the signing, when Lotz called from North Carolina.

John had called the Key home several times before, one of these times was just before North Carolina went up against UCLA in Los Angeles when he told him "Wish you were here to help us."

Stan had a lot of help along the way from several different places. He had basketball people from both sides of the family, as Calvin, his father, was always a good basketball player as was his mother, and her father, Paul Dalley, as well as her brother, Paul, Jr.

Another person who was a great help was Baxter Wheatley who was coach at Hazel while Stan was going there. Wheatley saw that Stan had a lot of promise and worked with him starting in the fifth grade. It paid off because Wheatley had a starter for four years that helped his team out a lot.

After finishing school at Hazel and starting in at Calloway County, Stan played for Howard Crittenden in the reserve roll for the first few games, then was placed in as a starter, and played on the first five of the rest of his high school career. The last three years were played under Coach Roy Cochran.

Stan gave all three coaches a lot of credit for his advancement in the field of sports, but said that Mr. Wheatley was the one that got him started and made him like the game and want to play.

Stan has one wall almost covered with trophies and awards that he has won in the eight years that he has played ball, and there are four scrap books in the house that are filled from cover to cover with clippings out of papers from across the state.

It was nice to note that they had clipped several things out of the Ledger & Times and that they hadn't cut my byline off the top when they put them in.

Coach Adolph Rupp was going to come down for the signing but was unable to, because of the East-West game. He is planning on coming down in the very near future to see the Keys.

Stan is looking forward to playing with the three fine sophomores year after next when they are seniors and he is a sophomore. Another thing that he is looking forward to is playing his senior year for Coach Rupp, which will be the Baron's last year at U.K.

Stan has also been an outstanding baseball player, so Calloway County isn't through with him yet, because he should be seeing a lot of action for the Lakers baseball team this spring.

Last year Stan won six games while losing only one for Calloway, and hit .513 while in the batters box. When he isn't pitching he plays the infield. Stan also made a fine showing for the American Legion team last year.

I know that everyone in this area joins me in wishing Stan the best of luck at U.K., and hope that he excels in everything that he attempts, as I am sure he will.

MSU Tennis Team Opens Season, Northern Iowa Here

The Murray State University tennis team, Ohio Valley Champions for the last two years, opened its season Friday at home against the "University of Northern Iowa. The Racers then played Southern Illinois at also on the home courts, Saturday.

Coach Jesse Spencer has five men returning from last year's squad and reports the team may be the best balanced ever at Murray. Those returning include Jim Novitsky who played No. 1 position; Mark Reznick, No. 2; Andre Cote, No. 3; Larry Niemeyer, No. 4; and Bill Trammel, No. 6. All but Novitsky were OVC champions at their positions last year. Reznick and Cote also teamed for the OVC No. 2 doubles championship.

Spencer also has two newcomers to the team that are making strong challenges for positions. Robert Willet, a freshman from Danville, Ill., is rated the fourth best 18-year-old in the western division of the United States, and Mike White, a freshman from Hamlet, Mich., showed well in tournaments last fall. At the moment, only Novitsky's position seems safe," Spencer said.

The netters will play one of the toughest schedules ever for Murray and will be hard pressed to improve on last season's 13-7 record. Included on the schedule are such standouts as Indiana; Tennessee; Mississippi State; Georgia; Southern Illinois; and Oral Roberts, perhaps the best college team in the nation. Four quadrangular meets and the Cape Coral, Fla., Invitational are also on the schedule.

The complete schedule is as follows:
March 29—U. of N. Iowa Home
March 30—SIU Home
April 5—Quadrangular (E. Ill., Mid. Tenn., Oral Roberts.)
April 10—Austin Peay Home
April 11—Indiana U. Away
April 12-14—Cape Coral Inv.
April 15—Georgia Tech Away
April 16—Clemson Away

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Monday, April 1, the 92nd day of 1968 with 274 to follow. This is All Fools' Day.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:
In 1893, Cincinnati set a precedent by deciding to pay members of its fire department a regular salary. Ordinary firemen were paid $60 a year, lieutenants $100, captains $150 and pipemen $365.

In 1918, the British Royal Air Force was founded and six months later began hitting industrial targets in Germany from French bases.

In 1939, Generalissimo Franco of the rebel forces announced the end of the Spanish Civil War.

In 1948, 400,000 bituminous coal miners in the United States went on strike for more money.

A thought for the day: Irish dramatist Richard Brinsley Sheridan said, "Tale bearers are as bad as the tale makers."

Western Star Joins Kentucky Colonels

LOUISVILLE, Ky. 478 — Western Kentucky University All-Ohio Valley Conference forward-guard Wayne Chapman, voted the Most Valuable Player in the OVC this past season, has signed a two-year professional contract with the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association.

The signing of the Colonels' No. 2 draft pick was announced Saturday by Colonels' owner, Joe Gregory.

Chapman, 6-6, led Western to an 18-7 season and average 20.8 points and 8.5 rebounds per game. He was picked just behind the

Gil Hodges Is Still Smiling With The Mets

By FRED DOWN UPI Sports Writer

Gil Hodges is still smiling but there must be moments when he wonders if he played an April Fool's joke on himself last winter.

Hodges left a secure job as manager of the Washington Senators to take the same post with the New York Mets. Some of Gil's best friends warned it might be a mistake but he said he wanted to be near his family in New York and that he considered the Mets a "challenge."

It may be that Hodges now considers the Mets a bad dream. It's hard enough that the Mets' 6-3 record in exhibition games is the worst of any major league team this spring but it's even worse that the Senators' 15-5 mark tops the Grapefruit League and includes an 11-0 showing against National League teams.

Continue Pattern
Things continued to get worse for New York and better for Washington Sunday when the Atlanta Braves beat the Mets 2-0 and the Senators defeated the Houston Astros 3-2.

Rookie Ron Reed allowed four hits and struck out eight batters in seven innings and Claude Raymond cleaned up for the Braves. Sonny Jackson singled the Braves' first run into scoring position and knocked in their second tally with another single. Don Cardwell, who spent seven innings for the Mets, was the victim of both runs.

Bernie Allen scored the winning run for the Senators, when shortstop Hector Torres committed two errors on one play in the eighth inning. Torres, who singled home both Houston runs in the second inning, also paved the way for the Senators' tying run with a throwing error in the fourth.

Four doubles paced the Pittsburgh Pirates' attack in a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in a game marked by the beaming of Orioles third baseman Brooks Robinson. Robinson was skulled by Steve Blass in the fifth inning but is believed to have escaped serious injury. He was taken to a Miami, Fla., hospital for x-rays.

Twins Top Box
Jim Perry, Moe Ogle, Jim Roland and Ron Kellner combined for a seven-hitter as the Minnesota Twins beat the Boston Red Sox 3-2 in 12 innings. Red Carew broke the 2-2 deadlock with a home off Gary Bel, who had pitched four shutout innings.

Vada Pinson hit a homer and a single and Tony Perez had two doubles as the Cincinnati Reds whipped the New York Yankees 8-2.

The Detroit Tigers nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 6-5 in 12 innings when Wayne Comer doubled following a walk to Bill Freehan. Tommy Davis, three-run holder, wrapped up the Chicago White Sox' 6-0 win over the Philadelphia Phillies; rookie Lou Piniella led Cleveland to a 9-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs with a triple, double and single; Zolner Versalles' 13-hit attack as the Dodgers topped the San Francisco Giants 9-7 and California collected three runs on five singles in the 14th inning to edge a Cleveland Indians' split squad 6-5.

Colonels' No. 1 draft choice, All-American Westley Unseld of Louisville, The Colonels are still trying to sign Unseld, who is also sought by the National Basketball Association.

Kentucky coach Gene Rhodes said he plans to use the Owensboro native as either forward or guard next season.

Valenti Answers Dirty Film Critic

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A while back someone wrote to you complaining because motion pictures were getting dirtier and dirtier. And you replied, "Now that Mr. Jack Valenti is president of the Motion Picture Association, we can all sleep a little better."

I don't know about you, Abby, but I haven't been sleeping any better since Mr. Valenti took over. Could Mr. Valenti be the one who is sleeping? So far I haven't noticed any improvement. If anything, I think movies are dirtier than ever. Why doesn't your Mr. Valenti do something? I don't expect to see this in print. You'll probably just toss it into the wastebasket, but I had to write anyway. Sincerely,

DEAR SOLD OUT: I wish I had all the power you credit me with. If I did, I would change things a little. When it comes to passing judgment on a film, even the experts can't agree on what is "dirty." When the motion picture code attempts to do in this democratic society — where there is NO censorship — is to inform the public honestly about the content of the film, then let parents make the judgment. That is the only democratic way. The alternative is despotism, where a small group decides for all.

If parents cannot control and guide their children, are we to deliver that responsibility to the state? And remember, Sold Out, the state is people, and thus a handful of mortals will be gathering unto themselves one enormous amount of power. Then who would watch the watchers? And who would guard the guardians? Sincerely, Jack Valenti."

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is in a home for unwed mothers now. She has decided to give her baby up for adoption. I won't go into the reasons for her decision, but I think she's doing the right thing. She's only 15. She doesn't even want to see the baby. She says it will be easier to forget if she doesn't.

Abby, even tho it would be a lie, what harm would there be if I were to tell her that her baby died? I am not asking her doctor to tell the lie — I will take all the responsibility myself. I just want the doctor and the people at the home where she will deliver the baby to back me up on my story.

My daughter has suffered enough already, and I only want to make it easier for her by telling her that her baby died. She won't have to go thru life wondering where her child is. I can see only good in this lie, but if you think I'm wrong, please tell me why, and I'll do as you say. Thank you.

HER MOTHER: Your motives are "good" — but one cannot accomplish good with evil acts. I advise you to forget this scheme, it is morally wrong.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were discussing a letter we had read in your column. It was from a woman who complained because when she and her children saw COFFEE CUP CHATTER. A weekly column by the Extension Agents shown in informal street survey 3 of 5 people said the thought foremost in their minds was "My feet."

Aching feet are uppermost in the American mind. In reply to an informal street survey 3 of 5 people said the thought foremost in their minds was "My feet." Healthy feet are an asset and put spring in each day; sick feet are unsightly, painful and inefficient. For better or for worse, your feet cannot be divorced from the rest of your body. When your feet hurt, you hurt all over. Foot health can be built by wearing well fitted and well made shoes, by building good walking and posture habits and by proper hygiene. — Mrs. Catherine C. Thompson.

Need To Save Time In The Kitchen?

Keep a tray on the table to hold sugar bowls (for brown and white) salt, pepper, mustard, salad dressing, pepper sauce, preserves, napkin rings and a quaint little potted plant. This saves time because all these items can be moved at one trip. — Mrs. Barletta Wraether.

That ornamental, the flowering crabapple, is suitable for almost any type of yard. Flowering crabapples often do well in poor soil, if the soil is well drained. They should be planted in late winter or early spring and should be mulched with peat moss, bark, or leaves. Mulch should be applied in a layer about three inches deep, and new mulch should be added annually. Crabapples also should be watered weekly during droughts. — Mrs. Maxine Griffin.

What's the difference between a ham and picnic ham? A ham is the cut from the upper part of the hind leg of a pig or hog. The cut of pork called a picnic or picnic shoulder is the shank end of the shoulder. — Miss Pat Everett.

"Let's Talk Dry Cleaning"

By Dorothy Boone

It seems impossible, but Easter is just a few short weeks away... and it's none too early to be thinking of your Easter outfit now. There's nothing a woman loves better than a complete new look for the Easter Parade. It's not always possible to have everything new... but everything can look like new.

If you're buying a new dress, better take a look at the color you might wear with it (with this season's unpredictable weather, you may need it). One piece with solid spots or a faded look can dim the luster of your gay new Easter finery. And if you're going to settle for a gay new Easter hat instead of a new outfit, then be sure to bring in that special dress or suit for cleaning. We'll have it ready in plenty of time for the holiday, spotlessly clean and crisply pressed to look as bright and new as anything you'll see on Easter Sunday!

Your fine clothes get a thorough cleaning in a series of solvents when we do them... to remove not only surface stains but deep-down soil. And they're handled with care! Bring them in... or call.

Kentucky dairymen are seeing more and more emphasis being placed upon promotion of milk and dairy products. This topic received considerable attention during the recent meeting of the Kentucky Dairy Products Association.
While leaders of the dairy industry have long been aware of the importance of promotion, the emergence of filled milk and dairy substitutes and imitations has aroused new concern. As I said in a speech before the Dairy Products Association meeting as well as other groups, this matter of filled milk and imitations is the most serious threat the dairy industry is facing.
It is unfortunate that such a threat appears at a time when dairymen are realizing notable progress as a major agricultural enterprise in Kentucky. Dairymen are now the third major producer of farm income, ranking behind tobacco and beef cattle. Thus when we look at dairymen we must not only be aware of the people directly involved, but also the economic contribution it makes to our total economy.
So what we do to insure the economic contribution it makes to our total economy.
So what we do to insure the economic welfare of our dairy industry? Given a promising market, our dairymen will continue to produce a quality product. The next step is promotion.
The American Dairy Association is sponsoring its programs for expanded promotion. Milk and dairy products already enjoy a good image among consumers.

over again to the consumer. We can mothers have great respect for products of the dairy industry.
We must have a program that will continue to hold this respect among mothers and consumers in general. More than that, we must not let mothers and meal planners forget the nutritional value of milk.
Recent studies conducted in Minnesota on a local imitation product show it to be low in nutritional values. This particular product has one-fourth less protein than real milk. Moreover, it contains no vitamin A and no riboflavin.
While milk has many other valuable components, protein is one of the most important. This is the
